This summer, elementary and middle school students (ages 9-14) have the opportunity to participate in hands-on learning experience designed to train your young person in beekeeping. Instructors with expertise in a range of fields (biology, chemistry, hive management, and even art) will be leading classes related to honey bees and the skills needed to care for them. Registration is $30 and includes t-shirt and snack. Participants must bring a sack lunch. Take a look into the fascinating world of honey bees and see for yourself the vital role they play in our everyday lives. Limited partial scholarships available.
